Brand Storytelling: The five types of magnetic stories every organisation should share

Your brand is the stories people share about you when you are not in the room. It will determine if people buy from you, work for you, refer you, or invest in you. When the stakes are that high, why wouldn't you want to take control of your brand stories?

This compelling keynote explores the power of magnetic stories to connect and engage in an authentic way with your employees and customers. Brought to life by real examples from around the world, the audience will learn about the five types of magnetic stories and how to successfully implement brand storytelling.

Real Communication: From jargon to genuine

In this highly entertaining keynote, Gabrielle explores the power of storytelling to communicate in a way that is more effective. She highlights the absurdity of corporate jargon and our excessive use of acronyms, as well as the serious issues this causes for effective communication in business.

Gabrielle challenges the audience to move away from the default language of jargon with all its hidden consequences and to speak in a way that is more genuine... to truly connect and engage with your audience.

To increase the impact Gabrielle can have at your conference, add a practical skilling workshop on how to find, develop and share personal stories in business.

Highly recommended

Gabrielle Dolan is an inspirational speaker who draws from her experience as a global thought leader on authentic leadership and strategic storytelling to connect with and wow audiences across the globe. We had the great fortune to engage Gabrielle as the opening keynote speaker for our IABC World Conference in Washington, D.C. In front of our international group of more than 1,000 people, she demonstrated an exceptional ability to capture and challenge our audience while delivering some great tips about becoming better leaders and communicators using the art of storytelling. I highly recommend Gabrielle as a keynote speaker for your next event.

Great audience connection

I could not recommend Gabrielle more highly: this is a tough subject topic - senior leaders can be very suspicious of the benefit of storytelling - but Gabrielle drives home the message elegantly. She has a great connection with the audience whether they be CEO's of businesses or front line team leaders - she passes on years of learning into a very easy to understand chapters. She is very 'low maintenance', needs little or no introduction; the event organisers all commented that it was a pleasure to work with her. Gabrielle is highly entertaining - but her message hits the target and resonates. Not surprisingly she received the highest rating from all 700 delegates - the star of the event.

Warmth, humour & empathy

Gabrielle Dolan has presented at a number of major conferences for Gartner over the years, including our Emerging Leaders in Multinationals, Women in Multinationals and HR Teams events.

Gabrielle brings great warmth, humour and empathy to every presentation and always leaves delegates with a set of tools they feel confident in using straight away.

We see hundreds of presentations each year in our forums and Gabrielle is among the very best - an engaging speaker backed by compelling detail. I would have no hesitation in recommending Gabrielle for a major conference, on-site workshop or anything else in between!"
